摘要

Are you ready to reimagine medicine and make a real impact on patients' lives? At Novartis, we're not just developing treatments—we're transforming the future of healthcare. As a Medical Director, you'll be at the forefront of clinical innovation, guiding breakthrough therapies from concept to reality. You'll collaborate with world-class scientists, clinicians, and cross-functional teams to shape strategies that matter.

If you're passionate about science, driven by purpose, and eager to lead with integrity in a global environment—we want to hear from you!

About the Role

Novartis is growing and we regularly have openings for Medical Director across our R&D function in London and Dublin.

Key Responsibilities:

- Clinical Leadership: Provide strategic medical input and leadership for all clinical deliverables within assigned projects or clinical programs.
- Regulatory Documentation: Lead the development of clinical sections for trial and program-level regulatory documents (e.g., protocols, investigator brochures, clinical study reports).
- Program Execution: Drive the execution of clinical trials in collaboration with global line functions, Global Trial Directors, and regional/country medical associates.
- Safety Oversight: Support the Global Program Clinical Head (GPCH) in ensuring the safety of the molecule, including participation in the Safety Management Team and collaboration with Patient Safety colleagues.
- Strategic Planning: Contribute to the Clinical Development Plan (CDP), Integrated Development Plan (IDP), and disease area clinical standards.
- Cross-functional Collaboration: Act as a medical expert in interactions with internal stakeholders (e.g., Translational Medicine, Business Development & Licensing) and external partners.
- Innovation & Transition: Support the transition of pre-proof-of-concept (PoC) projects to full development and contribute to target identification and due diligence processes.

Qualifications:

- Education: MD or equivalent medical degree required.
- Experience:
  - Clinical research or drug development.
  - Clinical practice experience (4+ years including residency) preferred.
  - We are looking for physicians with specialization and deep expertise in our core therapeutic areas including Radioligand therapy (RLT), Immunology, Rheumatology, Dermatology, Nephrology, Oncology, T-Charge (CAR-T).
- Skills:
  - Strong understanding of GCP, clinical trial design, and regulatory processes.
  - Proven ability to interpret and present clinical data.
  - Effective communicator with experience in matrixed, global environments.
