摘要

We are currently looking for a Pricing & Health Economics Analyst to join our Value and Access (V&A) team and to contribute to our mission of bringing innovative therapies to patients. The Pricing & Health Economics Analyst is a key associate that has the responsibility of executing the country overall pricing strategy and support HEOR analyses for the entire portfolio. By joining our dynamic V&A team, you will be part of a team that is dedicated to delivering value to patients while ensuring fast access to our innovative therapies in Belgium and Luxembourg. Your work will directly impact patient lives, helping them lead healthier and more productive lives.

About the Role

Your responsibilities will include:

- Understanding the legal framework and Health Authorities' measures impacting prices
- Close follow up of the pricing and reimbursement processes (internal and external) and

- coordinate practical implementation of price changes
- Leading the release and follow-up of accurate and timely price information when launching new product and in case of price changes
- Represent Novartis externally on pricing topics in discussion with industry associations and other stakeholders
- Collaborate with the HEOR Manager on Cost-Effectiveness and/or Budget Impact analyses required for pricing and reimbursement submissions.
- Responsible for the tracking of the Health Authorities agreements, the rebate process in Managed Entry Agreements and financial integration to ensure seamless accounting in collaboration with the V&A team
- Demonstrate agility to manage multiple competing priorities to deliver on time and in budget
- Engaging with local Health Authorities and relevant stakeholders to execute mandatory reporting duties related to pricing within the delays defined by law
- Maintaining audit, SOP and training compliance

Role Requirements

You will bring to the role:

- Willingness to understand the complex legal pricing framework over the full life cycle of products
- Analytical mindset to understand pricing dynamics and scenario building
- Good written and verbal communication skills in English and Dutch and/or French
- Full proficiency in MS Office programs: Excel, Word, PowerPoint and in SAP is a plus.
- Strong interest in pricing, health economics or value & access
- Customer-focused mindset
- Agility and responsiveness to business needs

Language preferences:

- Preferred: Dutch, French, English
- Alternative: Dutch + English or French + English
