摘要

LOCATION: Basel, Switzerland or London, UK
ROLE TYPE: Hybrid Working, LI-Hybrid

At Novartis, we are reimagining medicine through data, technology, and AI.

As Head of Medical Knowledge & Innovation, you will lead a transformative agenda to position Global Medical Affairs (GMA) as the industry benchmark - powered by cutting-edge technology and artificial intelligence.

This executive role is pivotal in driving strategic innovation across the medical value chain, enhancing patient outcomes and healthcare professional experiences.

You will lead enterprise-wide partnerships, influence senior stakeholders across Research, Development, Commercial, and Digital functions, and deliver impactful solutions that accelerate our medical strategy.

You 'll be at the forefront of revolutionising how we manage knowledge, enhance productivity, and improve patient outcomes—making a lasting impact on healthcare worldwide.

About the Role

Key Responsibilities

- Define and lead the GMA strategy for technology, AI, and data innovation.
- Govern a portfolio of high-impact tech and AI projects, ensuring quality, budget alignment, and resource optimization.
- Translate complex medical challenges into scalable, data-driven solutions.
- Drive adoption of AI-enabled tools and new ways of working across GMA.
- Lead the Novartis Knowledge Centre and enterprise-wide information management.
- Build future-ready capabilities in AI, data literacy, and medical innovation.
- Foster high-performing, cross-functional teams and partnerships across divisions.
- Champion change, role model Novartis values, and cultivate a culture of innovation.

What You 'll Bring to the Role

- Advanced degree in life sciences, STEM, or business (MSc, PhD, MBA preferred).
- Extensive experience in healthcare, technology, or business transformation.
- Proven leadership in medical affairs, drug development, or commercial strategy.
- Successful track record in effectively advocating for funding and strategic support for AI initiatives.
- Expertise in AI, advanced analytics, and digital product implementation.
- Strong track record in leading global teams and delivering enterprise-scale innovation.
- Exceptional communication, strategic thinking, and stakeholder engagement skills.
