Ready to shape the future of clinical operations through technology? In this role, you'll act as a strategic partner and delivery lead for Global Clinical Operations, driving innovation and transformation across a global portfolio. You will closely partner with Vendor Partnership and Governance (VPG) and Process, Training and GCP Compliance (PTC) business units and help to drive innovation and keep current system landscape stable. In GCO, we work at the intersection where our science meets our patients. Delivering on Novartis's incredible portfolio takes agility, diligence, innovation, and a dedicated team that stretches beyond the boundaries of GCO. You'll own the technical roadmap, lead complex programs, and collaborate closely with senior stakeholders to deliver impactful solutions that enhance business capabilities. This is your opportunity to influence strategy, champion forward-thinking initiatives, and make a measurable difference in how Novartis leverages technology to accelerate clinical development worldwide.
