摘要

Step into a pivotal role where your leadership can directly shape how breakthrough cardiovascular innovations reach patients worldwide.

As Director Access International - Cardio Pipeline, you will set a bold strategic direction, transforming scientific advances into clear, compelling value for payers and healthcare systems. You 'll inspire and unite cross functional and country teams, championing access solutions that accelerate affordability, broaden impact, and redefine what 's possible for patients and health systems.

Here, your vision, influence, and enterprise mindset will help build an integrated access strategy that truly moves the needle – for Novartis, for partners, and most importantly, for the people we serve.

#LI-Hybrid

Location: Basel, Switzerland

About the Role

Key Responsibilities:

- Lead creation and execution of integrated international access strategies across the full development to commercial continuum.
- Shape compelling payer and healthcare system value propositions grounded in strong scientific and access relevant evidence.
- Represent Access internally and externally, influencing strategic discussions and strengthening Novartis' international access agenda.
- Embed access insights into Target Product Profiles, clinical plans, and integrated evidence plans to guide asset decision making.
- Partner with Commercial Launch Strategy, Pricing, and Therapeutic Areas to co create robust international pricing strategies and guidance.
- Ensure timely, high quality access input into Integrated Product Strategy, business development assessments, and indication sequencing.
- Collaborate with Health Economics and cross franchise teams to align evidence priorities with key market needs.
- Anticipate shifts in priority markets and health technology assessment archetypes to model future access assumptions and recommendations.
- Build strong cross functional and external partnerships to enable innovative, scalable access solutions.
- Champion an enterprise approach, connecting countries and functions to deliver consistent, high impact access strategies.

Essential requirements:

- Minimum five years of experience in market access roles with demonstrated strategic impact.
- Minimum two years of global or outside United States regional experience.
- Experience working early in the medicine development lifecycle with strong understanding of evidence needs.
- Proven experience supporting successful product launches in international markets.
- Demonstrated ability to influence and collaborate across complex, cross functional and matrix organizations.
- Experience driving commercial strategy informed by market access, health economics, outcomes research, or pricing expertise.
- Strong communication skills with ability to engage diverse stakeholders and drive alignment.
- Advanced degree preferred, including Master of Business Administration, Doctor of Medicine, or Registered Pharmacist qualification.

Desirable requirements:

- Experience in the relevant therapeutic area, bringing insights that strengthen access strategy, evidence needs, and market understanding.
- Proven leadership impact, demonstrating the ability to influence diverse stakeholders, balance strategic and operational priorities, and drive innovative, enterprise minded solutions.
