摘要

Ready to shape how scientific evidence reaches the global healthcare community? As an Expert Scientific Writer within Global Medical Affairs, you will play a pivotal role in transforming complex clinical data into clear, compelling publications that inform clinical practice and ultimately improve patient outcomes. Working across therapeutic areas, you will lead the creation of high-quality scientific content from concept through to publication, collaborating with cross-functional teams to ensure accuracy, impact, and excellence at every stage. This is a unique opportunity to combine your scientific expertise with storytelling, influencing how data is communicated on a global scale.

Location: London, UK

#LI-Hybrid - Hybrid (12 days per month on-site if living within 50 miles of our London office)

#LI-Remote - Remote (if living beyond 50 miles of our London office)

This role is based in London, UK. Novartis is unable to offer relocation support for this role: please only apply if this location is accessible for you.

About the Role

Responsibilities:

- Lead development of scientific publications including manuscripts, abstracts, posters, and slide presentations
- Own content delivery end-to-end, from initial brief through to final publication or presentation
- Translate complex clinical data into clear, audience-appropriate scientific messaging
- Ensure all content is accurate, evidence-based, and aligned to defined scientific narratives
- Create materials for scientific meetings, including symposia slides, agendas, and speaker briefings
- Perform internal scientific reviews to maintain quality and consistency across deliverables
- Conduct quality control and proofreading to ensure accuracy and compliance with standards
- Collaborate with cross-functional stakeholders to align on content strategy and priorities
- Contribute to strategic and tactical publication planning and associated research
- Mentor team members and support onboarding of new colleagues

Essential for the role:

- Bachelor ' s degree in a scientific discipline or equivalent experience
- Extensive experience in medical writing, including manuscripts, abstracts, posters, and presentation materials
- Strong understanding of clinical research, drug development, and scientific data interpretation
- Proven ability to translate complex scientific information into clear, concise, audience-appropriate content
- Demonstrated experience working within publication processes and industry guidelines, including good publication practices
- High attention to detail with a strong focus on scientific accuracy and quality
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills in English
- Ability to manage multiple projects, prioritise effectively, and deliver within tight timelines

Desirable for the role:

- Advanced degree such as Master of Science, Doctor of Philosophy, Doctor of Medicine, or Doctor of Pharmacy
- Experience working across multiple therapeutic areas or global, cross-functional teams

Commitment to Diversity & Inclusion:

Novartis is committed to building an outstanding, inclusive work environment and diverse teams representative of the patients and communities we serve.

Why Novartis: Helping people with disease and their families takes more than innovative science. It takes a community of smart, passionate people like you. Collaborating, supporting and inspiring each other. Combining to achieve breakthroughs that change patients' lives.
