摘要

Join the Consulting & Program Management team and work on strategic initiatives that drive business transformation, operational excellence, and organizational effectiveness across Novartis.

As an intern, you will gain hands-on experience supporting consulting engagements, program management initiatives, business analysis, and AI-enabled problem solving while collaborating with stakeholders across global teams and functions.

This role offers a unique opportunity to apply structured consulting methodologies, develop executive communication skills, and contribute to high-impact projects that influence business outcomes at scale.

About the Role

Key Responsibilities

Consulting & Business Problem Solving

- Support consulting engagements by conducting structured research, analysis, and insight generation.
- Break down complex business challenges and develop data-driven recommendations.
- Conduct market, business, organizational, and competitive assessments to support strategic decision-making.
- Synthesize findings into clear, actionable insights for business stakeholders.

Executive Storytelling & Communication

- Develop executive-ready presentations, reports, and discussion materials.
- Support creation of business cases, recommendations, and leadership updates.
- Apply structured storylining techniques to communicate key insights and recommendations effectively.
- undefined

Program & Project Management

- Support planning, execution, and governance of strategic initiatives and transformation programs.
- Track project milestones, risks, dependencies, and action items.
- Assist with project governance activities, stakeholder communications, and status reporting.
- Contribute to operational excellence and process improvement initiatives.

Stakeholder Engagement

- Collaborate with cross-functional teams across functions, markets, and geographies.
- Support preparation and facilitation of workshops, working sessions, and stakeholder discussions.
- Build effective working relationships with project teams and business partners.
- undefined

AI-Enabled Consulting & Innovation:

- Leverage AI and Generative AI tools to improve research, analysis, content development, and knowledge management.
- Explore opportunities to enhance consulting and program management workflows through AI-enabled solutions.
- Apply AI tools responsibly to improve productivity, insight generation, and decision quality.

Essential Requirements

- Currently pursuing an MBA, PGDM, or equivalent postgraduate business degree from a recognized institution.
- Strong analytical, quantitative, and structured problem-solving capabilities.

- Ability to evaluate complex information and derive actionable insights.
- Excellent written and verbal communication skills.
- Strong business presentation and storytelling skills.
- Proficiency in Microsoft PowerPoint and Excel.
- Demonstrated ability to leverage AI/GenAI tools (e.g., Copilot, ChatGPT and other enterprise approved tools) for research, analysis, content development, and productivity enhancement.
- Strong organizational, stakeholder management, and project coordination capabilities.
- Ability to work independently while managing multiple priorities in a dynamic environment.

Preferred Qualifications

- Prior experience in consulting, strategy, operations, program management, business analytics, or transformation initiatives.
- Experience conducting market research, business analysis, competitive intelligence, or strategic assessments.
- Familiarity with project management methodologies, governance frameworks, and change management principles.
- Exposure to data visualization and analytical tools such as Power BI, Tableau, or similar platforms.
- Understanding of AI, automation, digital transformation, or business process improvement initiatives.
- Interest in healthcare, pharmaceuticals, life sciences, or global business environments.

Desired Mindset & Behaviours

- Intellectual curiosity and continuous learning orientation.
- Structured, hypothesis-driven approach to problem solving.
- Strong ownership and execution mindset.
- Quality-focused with attention to detail.
- Collaborative, team-oriented, and stakeholder-centric approach.
- Proactive and solution-oriented attitude.
- Adaptability and resilience in fast-paced environments.
- Growth mindset with openness to feedback and continuous improvement.

What You'll Gain

- Hands-on experience in internal consulting and program management within a leading global healthcare company.
- Exposure to strategic business initiatives and transformation programs.
- Opportunity to work with senior leaders and diverse cross-functional teams.
- Practical experience in stakeholder engagement, governance, and project execution.
- Development of consulting skills including problem solving, structured thinking, executive communication, and storytelling.
- Exposure to AI-enabled consulting, business transformation, and future ways of working.

- Opportunity to build a strong foundation for careers in consulting, strategy, program management, and business leadership.
