Working across Medical Affairs and partner functions, you will help ensure that governance enables quality, operational excellence and effective execution while maintaining high ethical and compliance standards. delivery.

This job posting is for an existing position.

About the Role

Key responsibilities

- Lead end-to-end governance of regulated Medical Affairs activities, including interventional and non-interventional studies/real-world evidence, investigator-initiated trials, managed access programs and research collaborations.
- Monitor adherence to Novartis processes, standards and applicable Canadian requirements, while supporting data quality and integrity across Medical Affairs.
- Ensure compliance and robust medical governance in the medical affairs ' external engagements and events processes.
- Provide expert governance advice, coaching and practical, risk-based solutions to activity owners and Medical Affairs teams.
- Proactively identify, assess and mitigate risks; track issues, deviations, escalations and CAPAs through resolution.
- Oversee local audit and inspection readiness and execution in close partnership with Quality Assurance, and apply root-cause insights to improve future performance.
- Monitor and report KPIs and KQIs using relevant global systems and tools, and use insights to strengthen processes, capabilities and decision-making.
- Act as the Medical Affairs governance point of contact for partner functions including GGO, Development Operations, Quality Assurance, Patient Safety, Clinical Disclosure Office, Ethics, Risk & Compliance, Procurement and Legal.
- Advise activity owners on due diligence, governance and oversight of third parties engaged in evidence and data-generation activities.
- Support Medical Affairs onboarding, learning and capability-building, and promote consistent, simplified and effective ways of working across Canada.

Essential requirements

- Scientific degree such as BSc, MSc, PhD, PharmD or equivalent.
- At least 5 years of relevant pharmaceutical-industry experience in Medical Affairs governance, quality, compliance, clinical development or a related regulated environment.
- Strong knowledge of GCP, ICH guidelines and applicable Canadian regulations, with practical understanding of scientific and operational aspects of clinical development and Medical Affairs.
- Demonstrated leadership in risk assessment, audit and inspection readiness, issue management, CAPA, process excellence and continuous improvement.
- Ability to communicate complex requirements in clear, practical terms and influence effectively across senior, cross-functional and matrix stakeholders.
- Strong planning, prioritization, negotiation, problem-solving and change-management capabilities, with a pragmatic and solution-oriented mindset.
- French speaking and writing: Advanced; English speaking and writing: Advanced.

Desirable requirements

- Experience leading or co-leading governance, quality, capability-building or process-improvement workstreams in a complex matrix organization.
- Hands-on experience with Medical Affairs systems and governance of evidence-generation, third-party oversight, grants, training and onboarding activities.

Why join us?

This is an opportunity to join a passionate, collaborative Medical Affairs team and make a meaningful contribution to Medical Governance in Canada. You will help turn governance into an enabler of quality, speed, consistency and trusted decision-making, while shaping sustainable ways of working across the organization.
