Job Title: Director, Corporate Affairs Intelligence, Intelligence Analytics

#LI-Hybrid

Location: East Hanover, US

Relocation Support: This role is based in East Hanover, US. Novartis is unable to offer relocation support: please only apply if accessible.

Lead the analytical excellence behind Corporate Affairs Intelligence, a global team that analyzes the external environment (public affairs, geopolitics, industry and competitor dynamics, stakeholders) and turns it into enterprise-level intelligence. This is a hands-on senior individual contributor role, not a people leadership role.

About the Role

Key Responsibilities

- Lead end-to-end analytical development of complex Corporate Affairs Intelligence briefs and priority projects.
- Partner with Corporate Affairs stakeholders to translate business needs into focused research questions and analytical plans.
- Drive analytical excellence, ensuring rigorous, consistent and strategically relevant execution across intelligence workflows.
- Integrate structured and unstructured information to uncover meaningful patterns, evidence gaps and emerging implications.
- Lead the development and operationalization of Corporate Affairs Intelligence ' s shared data taxonomy and ontology, establishing consistent definitions, classifications, entities, relationships, and metadata that strengthen analytical workflows, AI-enabled retrieval, and reuse across the owned intelligence foundation.
- Transform complex findings into clear, evidence-based insights, highlighting implications, opportunities and vulnerabilities.
- Advance methodologies, AI-enabled workflows and quality controls to improve analytical speed, depth and scalability.
- Coach colleagues through complex analytical work while identifying risks, capacity constraints and opportunities to strengthen delivery.

Essential Requirements

- Bachelor ' s degree in a relevant field; an advanced business degree is advantageous.
- Extensive experience in strategic intelligence, advanced analytics, research, insights or a related analytical field.
- Proven experience leading complex analysis from question framing and research design through synthesis and evidence-based judgment.
- Experience sourcing, integrating, and analyzing structured and unstructured information across traditional and social media, financial and corporate disclosures, policy and regulatory materials, scientific literature, stakeholder communications, public web content, and other external information environments.
- Demonstrated business acumen, connecting external developments with strategic implications and maintaining strong stakeholder partnerships.
- Experience leading analytical workflows, methodologies and quality standards within complex, highly matrixed organizations.
- Hands-on experience building and running AI-enabled analytical workflows to improve analytical speed, rigor, depth and scalability.
- Ability to communicate complex findings clearly, exercise objective judgement, and influence effectively without formal authority. This is a hands-on senior individual contributor role with no direct reports, requiring strong personal ownership and the ability to deliver impact through collaboration and influence.

Desirable Requirements

- Experience within Corporate Affairs, pharmaceuticals or another highly regulated industry.
- Experience using monitoring, research, data or intelligence platforms and APIs.

Benefits & Rewards

The salary for this position is expected to range between $160,300 and $297,700 per year. The final salary offered is determined based on factors like, but not limited to, relevant skills and experience, and upon joining Novartis will be reviewed periodically. Novartis may change the published salary range based on company and market factors. Your compensation will include a performance-based cash incentive and, depending on the level of the role, eligibility to be considered for annual equity awards. US-based eligible employees will receive a comprehensive benefits package that includes health, life and disability benefits, a 401(k) with company contribution and match, and a variety of other benefits. In addition, employees are eligible for a generous time off package including vacation, personal days, holidays and other leaves.
